

WORDS: PART OF SPEECH

By Mr. Yazid

WORDS

- English has several kinds of words, which are called the “Parts of Speech”: nouns, pronouns, verbs, adverbs, adjectives, articles, prepositions, conjunctions, and interjections.
- Individual words can become different parts of speech depending on their function in a sentence. For example, the word question can be either a noun or a verb.
- The question was easy □ noun
- The police questioned several people □ verb

THERE ARE 9 PARTS OF SPEECH

- 1. verbs
- 2. nouns
- 3. adjectives
- 4. adverbs
- 5. pronouns
- 6. conjunctions
- 7. Articles/Determiner
- 8. Prepositions
- 9. Interjection

1. NOUNS

- A noun names a person, place, thing, or idea.
- Example of nouns are teacher, school, book, color, life, and truth.
- Common nouns & proper nouns

A noun that names a particular person, place, or thing is a proper noun. Proper nouns begins with capital letters. All other nouns are common nouns.

NOUN

▣ Count nouns & noncount nouns

A common noun can be count or noncount. Countable nouns can name people, places, and things that you can count (one book, two books). Count nouns can be singular or plural, and you can use an indefinite article (a, an) with them.

Uncountable nouns name things that you cannot count. For example, you cannot count sunshine or oxygen. Noncount nouns are never plural, and you cannot use a or an with them.

NOUNS

▣ Gerunds

Words that end in -ing can be nouns. These nouns are called gerunds.

▣ Swimming is good exercise

▣ I enjoy cooking

PRACTICE —SECTION 1A

- Find and underline the nouns in the following sentences. There are seven common nouns and two proper nouns.

EXAMPLE

Teaching is a profession that brings great satisfaction.

1. Quebec is a province in eastern Canada
2. I usually get my best ideas in my dreams
3. Experience is the best teacher
4. Exercising immediately after eating is unwise

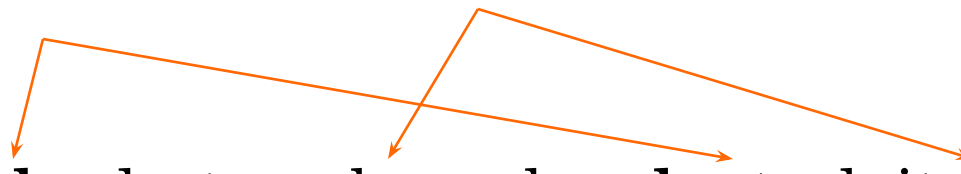

ANSWER

1. Quebec is a province in eastern Canada
2. I usually get my best ideas in my dreams
3. Experience is the best teacher
4. Exercising immediately after eating is unwise

2. PRONOUNS

- A pronoun replaces a noun or noun or noun phrase. The replaced noun is called the antecedent.

- □ John lost my bag when he took it.

- in this sentence, he replaces John, and it replaces my bag.
- Where's my book?
- I didn't enjoy that movie.

THERE ARE EIGHT KINDS OF PRONOUNS

Pronouns

Personal pronouns	I, me, you, him, she, her, it , we, us, they, them, ☐ She gave it to them . They got it from her .
Possessive pronouns	My, mine, your, yours, her, hers, his, its, our, ours, their, theirs ☐ Let's study at your house. Mine is too noisy

2. Is that your final answer?
3. She taught herself to play the piano.
4. All of his former girlfriends came uninvited to his wedding

3. VERBS

A verbs express an action or names a state of exercise.

□ Action	State of existence
Jump	be laugh	seem
love	appear

Verbs are the most changeable words in English. We change their form to express meanings such as these:

- Is the time of the action the past, the present, or the future?
- Does the action happen every day ? Is it happening right now?

VERBS ARE THE MOST CHANGEABLE WORDS IN ENGLISH. WE CHANGE THEIR FORM TO EXPRESS MEANINGS SUCH AS THESE:

- Did it happen just one time or several times?
- Did one person or more than one person perform the action?
- Does the verb express an action performed by the subject (John hits the ball) or received by the subject (the ball was hit)?

MAIN VERB

- A sentence always has at least one main verb ((MV). Main verbs carry the basic meaning, and their form can change.
- I am cold □ I work
- He is cold □ He works
- They were cold □ They worked
- With main verbs, we often use one or more helping verbs (HV) to make the different tenses, to make questions, and to express meanings such as possibility, advisability, permission, and requirement.

HV MV

HV HV HV MV

- I was working □ They should have been working

MAIN VERBS AND HELPING VERBS

▣ Do they work? □ We must work.

HV MV HV MV

The helping verbs are (1) the forms of be, have and do and
(2) the modals

Note: Helping verbs are also called auxiliary verbs.

HELPING VERBS

Forms of BE, HAVE, AND DO

Be, am, is, are, was, were, been, being,
have, has, had, do, does, did

Be, have, and do can change their form

I am working
He is working
They are working

MODALS

Can, could, will, would Shall, should may, might
Must, ought to had better

Modals never change their form

I must work
He must have worked
They must be working

VERB

1. Regular □ end up with (-ed), (-d), (change y to i and add -ed), and (double the consonant and add -ed) formed.

e.g. kiss → kiss*ed* want □ want*ed* match □ match*ed* agree □ agree*d* love □ love*d* die □ die*d* cry □ cry*ed* worry □ worry*ed* deny □ deny*ed* admit □ admitt*ed* rub □ rub*bed* transmit □ transmitt*ed*

2. Irregular: there are 5 types (ABB, ABC, ABA, AAB, AAA)

e.g. have □ had □ had grow □ grew □ grown run □ ran □ run

beat □ beat □ beaten (*only 1) put □ put □ put

REGULAR AND IRREGULAR VERBS

Verbs have 5 basic form: the base form, the –s form, the past tense form, the past participle, and the present participle. These forms are called the “principle parts” of verbs. The principal parts of verbs are either regular or irregular.

	BASE FORM	-S FORM	PAST T.	PAST PARTICIPLE	PRESENT PARTICIPLE
REGULAR VERBS	Love Walk	Loves Walks	Loved Walked	Loved Walked	Loving Walking
IRREGULAR VERBS	Eat Go	Eats Goes	Ate Went	Eaten Gone	Eating Going

Notes: the base form is the form that you find in a dictionary
- the –s form is the base form + -s or –es

TRANSITIVE AND INTRANSITIVE VERBS

□ Transitive verbs

Verbs are either transitive or intransitive. Transitive verbs have a direct object. A direct object (DO) is a noun or pronoun that receives the action of the verb. E.g. the verbs Love and buy are transitive because you love someone and buy something.

- | | |
|----------------------|---------------------------------|
| □ I Love You. | □ They bought a new car. |
| S V DO | S V DO |

□ Intransitive verbs

I. Verbs do not have a direct object. You cannot put a noun or pronoun directly after them. E.g. the verbs go and die are intransitive because you cannot go something or die something.

- | |
|---|
| □ He went home before he died . |
| S V S V |

LINKING VERBS

- A linking verb is a verb that links the subject to a subject complement. A subject complement is either a noun that renames the subject or an adjective that describes the subject.

SUBJECT	LINKING VERB	SUBJECT COMPLEMENT
Dogs	Are	Social animals (noun)
Your dog	Looks	Lonely (adjective)

The most common linking verb is be, other linking verbs include the verbs of the senses – feel, look, smell, sound, and taste – and the verbs become, remain and seem.

Special Tip

😊 Some languages allow you to omit a linking verb when the meaning is clear without it, but English requires a verb in every sentence.

□ I Hungry
↓
am

□ The baby sleepy

↓
looks

VERBS CONTRICTIONS

- Sometimes a verb hides a contraction.

I'm : I am	I'd : I had OR I would
He's : he is OR he has	She'd : she had OR she would
They're : they are	They'd: they had OR they would
I've : I have	I'll : I will
You've : you have	You'll : you will
There's : there is OR there has	Who's : who is OR who has

4. ADJECTIVES

An adjective defined as a word that describes a noun or pronoun, it comes before a noun or pronoun.

'Big party', 'it's boring', 'purple book', 'quick job' and 'heavy machine' are all adjectives.

It deals with origin, color, length, characteristics, physical appearances, etc.

Blue, white, etc. □ color

Japanese, Chinese, etc. □ Origin

Small, wide etc. □ length

Smart, good etc. □ characteristics

Beauty, curly etc. □ physical appearances

5. ADVERB

An adverb is defined as a word which describes or gives more information about a verb, adjective, adverb or phrase. An adverb usually end up with (-ly) but some others are not (quick*ly*, happi*ly*, fast, etc.)

e.g. 1. In the phrase 'she smiled cheerfully', the word 'cheerfully' is an adverb.

2. In the phrase 'the house was spotlessly clean', the word 'spotlessly' is an adverb.

3. He creates a fast-growing business.

6. CONJUNCTION

A conjunction is defined as a word that connects words, phrases and clauses in a sentence. It is also called connector.

1. Time connector

e.g. after, as, before, since, until, for, when, while.

2. Cause connector

e.g. because, since, as a result, owing by, hence.

3. Condition connector

e.g. if, whether, unless

4. Contrast connector

e.g. although, even though, though, while, but, nevertheless

5. Coordinate connector

e.g. and, but, or, so.

COORDINATING CONJUNCTIONS

- There are 7 conjunctions. They are sometimes called the “FANBOYS” because their first letters spell the words “fan boys.”

f or	a nd	n or	b ut	o r	y et	s o
-------------	-------------	-------------	-------------	------------	-------------	------------

- Coordinating conjunctions connect two or more grammatically equal words and word groups. That is, they connect nouns with nouns, verbs with verbs, prepositional phrases with prepositional phrases, independent clauses with independent clauses, and so on.

e.g.

- 1). Rice, chicken, tomatoes, and onions are the main ingredients in this recipe
- 2). I enjoy swimming in the ocean but not in a pool.
- 3). Our coach always says, “It doesn’t matter if you win or lose. Just do your best
- 4). I finally passed the TOEFL, so next semester I can start college.
- 5). She was tired, yet happy.
- 6). We got wet, for we hadn’t brought our raincoats.
- 7) Marie didn’t come to work yesterday, nor did she call.

CORRELATIVE CONJUNCTIONS

Correlative conjunctions always connect in pairs. For this reason, they are sometimes called “Paired conjunctions.”

Both ... and either ... or whether ...or Not only ...but also neither ...nor

Like the “fan boys”, correlative conjunctions connect grammatically equal words and word groups. Correlative conjunctions can connect only two items; “fan boys” can connect more than two.

My mother can speak both French and Vietnamese.

She has lived not only in Vietnam but also in French.

It's always either too hot or too cold in our classroom.

This sofa is neither comfortable nor beautiful, so let's get rid of it.

She couldn't decide whether to buy a car or to take a vacation.

SUBORDINATING CONJUNCTIONS

- A subordinating conjunction is the first word in a dependent clause and shows the relationship of the clause to the rest of the sentence. For instance, the subordinating conjunction because tells you that the following words will give a reason, and the subordinating conjunction when shows a time relationship.

7. PREPOSITION

□ A preposition is a part of speech that shows a relationship between two things.

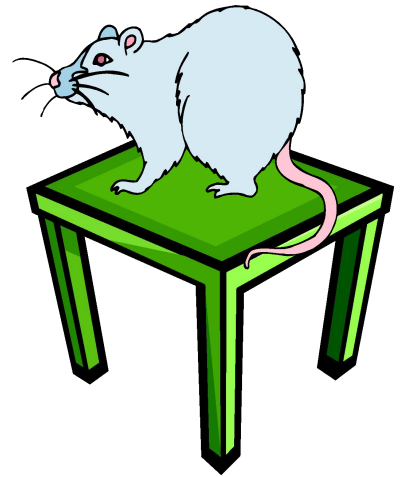

- Location (on, under, in)
- Direction (from, toward, to)

e.g. The mouse is on the table.

Two things: mouse + table

Relationship: one is on the other

On is a preposition.

PREPOSITION

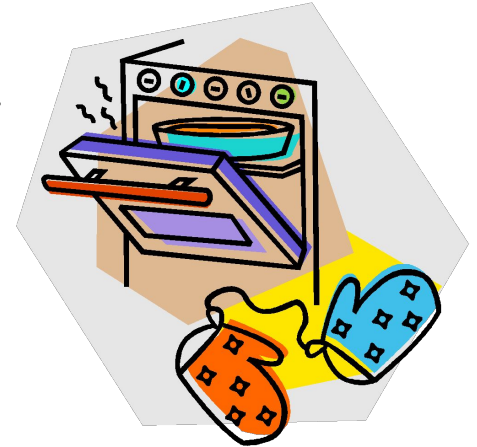

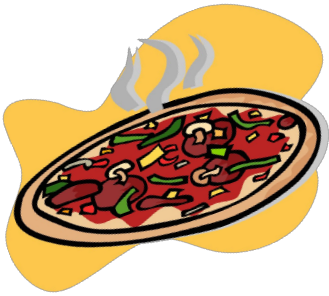

Here is a list of the most common prepositions:

aboard	along	behind	but (except)	from	off	past	until about	amid	below	by	in	on	since	up above	among	beneath	down	inside	onto	through	upon across	around	beside	during	into	out	to	with after	at	between	except	near	outside	toward	within against	before	beyond	for	of	over	under	without

WHICH ONE IS CALLED PREPOSITION?

The pizza in the oven is mine.

8. INTERJECTION

- In grammar, an interjection is a word which is used to show a short sudden expression of emotion. It is also called gambit.

(well, hey, hum, yup, okay, aha, gee, now, wait up, Gosh, wow, Goodness, omg. etc.)

e.g.

"Hey!" is an interjection.

"Gee, honey, is that all your own hair?"

"Which one do you like best?" "Hm. I'm not sure."

Gosh, I didn't expect to see you here!

9. DETERMINER

- In grammar, a word which is used before a noun to show which particular example of the noun you are referring to. The most dominant determiner is an article where any of the English words 'a', 'an' and 'the' or words in other languages that do the same job as these. Another determiner classified into quantifiers (some, any, much, few, every, etc.)

e.g. The dress is for twenty Pounds.

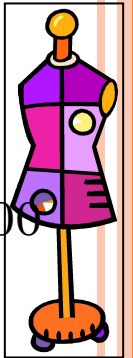

What's your father job?

He's an architect.
